

Stepping Up

PROGRAMME OUTLINE

Elevating Success' Stepping Up training is a combined discussion-led and interactive workshop focussing on the transition from Primary to Secondary School.

Background

School plays a fundamental role in a child's life, providing them with a peer group, daily structure, learning and interaction with adults beyond the family circle.

With numerous surveys supporting the view that moving is THE most stressful life experience it is not surprising then that children can feel particularly vulnerable when making the transition from Primary School to Secondary School.

Therefore, the need to prepare them in an engaging and informative way prior to this event can make the transition so much smoother.

Elevating Success' Stepping Up training is designed to do just that.

Teaching Methods

Using a combination of discussion and interactive exercises the young people will have the opportunity to discuss any anxieties they have and be given the opportunity to role-play real-life situations. Introductory warm-up exercises designed to promote co-operation will see them practice verbal and non-verbal communication.

Course duration and Target Group:

An increasing number of schools recognise the stressful nature of transitioning from Primary to Secondary School and now incorporate this topic within the syllabus. Elevating Success' Stepping Up workshop can either form an add-on to the existing provision: offered as a 40-minute to 1-hour session.

Alternatively, the training is delivered as a short course with training taking place once-per week, over a 4-week period.

Outcomes

Students will have an enhanced understanding of what moving school means to them as individuals. Through discussion and drama they will have explored the following themes:

- Why do we have to move on?
- How can we prepare for change?
- What about my friends?
- Moving on!

Venue

Workshops can be conducted at any London venue of your choice or at our training centre in Croydon.
